

Rush Card Startup
Set up your Free Debit Card
US Residents ONLY - Sorry

If you live in the United States, you can get a FREE VISA Debit card, load it with $20 and immediately have a $46.05 balance on the card to spend anywhere that accepts VISA.

Plus, you can also get a $30 bonus when you refer someone else to do the same thing you did.

There is no start up cost other than the one-time loading fee when you load your card. And if you set it up correctly you won't be charged a monthly fee. You can choose to "pay as you go" which is a $1 per usage fee up to a maximum of $10 per month. Each time you use your card you would pay a $1 fee.

Why choose that over the monthly fee of $7 or $8 ?? Because if you don't use your card, you still have to pay the monthly cost and I found out the hard way that your fixed monthly fees will use up all your $20 plus the bonus money. Since I wasn't buying with my RushCard, all my balance disappeared in the usage fees. With "pay as you go", your balance will stay there until you decide to use it.

Here are the details"

- 1. Join RushCard at <https://apply.rushcard.com/start/?urid=DAVIDFULLMER2>
- 2. Set the options and create your pin and your card will be sent to you in 7 to 10 days. Be sure to set the option for Pay as you go fees. Pay as you go will cost you $1 per transaction up to $10 per month but the fixed monthly fees will be $6 to $8. I don't plan of making but a couple transactions per month so I feel the pay as you go is a better choice.
- 3. Go to Wal-Mart, Dollar Stores, Pharmacies and many other places to Load Your card with the $20

- 4. I loaded my card at a local Dollar General store and paid the $20 plus a $3.95 loading fee
- 5. I immediately had a balance of $46.05 that I could spend anywhere that accepted VISA

The Math:

I paid Dollar General $23.95 and immediately had $45.05 to spend that would cost me $1 for the transaction. That was a net increase in my spending funds of $21.10.

Why was my balance only $46.05 instead of $50?

Good question. The answer is that there is a one-time loading fee of $3.95. That one-time fee will never be charged again. It is only charged on the first time you load any funds.

Is this a legitimate offer or is it a scam?

Another good question! And the answer is it is Legitimate

I am sure you have seen offers from banks and other financial institutions for rewards for telling your friends, and family about their services. It's Called Finders Fees. This is a very common offer in the USA. That is all that RushCard is doing and my experience is that this is a good way to also earn some extra money.

Is there a limit on how many times you can earn referral bonuses?

Yes. you are limited to earning $600 per year.
